

FOCUS ON DEVELOPMENTALLY APPROPRIATE PRACTICE: EQUITABLE AND JOYFUL LEARNING WITH INFANTS AND TODDLERS

Guided Book Study

Satellite Family Child Care System offers this opportunity to all educators participating in our accreditation system.

This guided book study explores Focus on Developmentally Appropriate Practice: Equitable and Joyful Learning with Infants and Toddlers by Marie Masterson (2024). Over eight discussion-driven sessions, participants will acknowledge the impact of developmentally appropriate practice and relationship-based care on infant and toddler development. The course will explore how to use observation, documentation, and reflection to plan engaging curriculum for infants and toddlers in family child care settings. Co-facilitated by family child care professional Betty-Anne White, participants will learn strategies for supporting infants' and toddlers' emerging language, cognitive, and social-emotional skills through evidence-based practices.

You will learn...

- ✓ to recognize and apply developmentally appropriate practice with infants and toddlers while partnering with families.
- ✓ to implement observation, documentation, and reflection with infants and toddlers.
- ✓ strategies for supporting infants' and toddlers' emerging language, cognitive, and social-emotional skills.
